

CONVICTIONS HARD TO GET UNDER THE
SHERMAN LAWCivil End of the Law All Right, but Efficacy of Criminal
Not Encouraging.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The Sherman anti-trust law is proving its adequacy as a civil statute and there is no necessity for the much discussed proposed amendment particularizing unlawful practices in restraint of trade, according to Attorney-General Wickham, in his annual report submitted to Congress today.

On the other hand, however, the Attorney-General does not pass judgment upon the efficacy of the anti-trust act as a criminal statute. He says: "The experience of the last year in endeavoring to enforce criminal liability under the Sherman law has not been encouraging." The Attorney-General presented a long tabulated list of prosecutions to bear out this assertion.

The Attorney-General defends the Commerce Court, the abolition of which was attempted at the last session of Congress. A return to the old method of distributing litigation arising from the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the District Courts would be injurious to the interests of the public and delay the administration of justice, says Mr. Wickham.

Drawing conclusions from the decrees of dissolution and injunction which already have been entered under the Sherman law, Mr. Wickham maintains that the Federal Courts are exercising in equity suits a power to restrain which is coextensive with the equity jurisdiction of the Sherman law was enacted. "The courts have found no difficulty, he adds, in applying the terms of the law to meet and explain the continuance of any form of unfair competition which has resulted in imposing an undue restraint upon interstate commerce or which makes for monopoly."

ANXIOUS FOR SAFE MEANS OF EVASION.

These decrees, the Attorney-General continues, demonstrate that no amendment of the law in the direction of declaring the illegality of particular practices is necessary to clothe the courts with full power to prevent any and all acts which may be employed to accomplish the illegal purposes denounced by the statute.

"I am strongly of the opinion," says Mr. Wickham, "that the advocacy of amendments of the law which shall particularize different acts as constituting unlawful restraints or attempts at monopoly has its origin not so much with those who desire the enforcement of the law as with those who are anxious to evade its provisions. An enumeration of the statute of the different practices which, in and of themselves, without regard to the circumstances of particular cases, should be declared illegal will go too far or not far enough."

While slave conditions, criminal and civil prosecutions under the Sherman law, the postal laws and miscellaneous crimes during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913, have paid in penalties imposed more than $100,000 to support the entire judiciary of the United States, according to the Attorney-General.

Although the operations of the Department of Justice, the courts and the Government's legal machinery in general cost $2,000,000, an increase of $27,000 over that of the year ended June 30, 1912, there was actually collected and paid into the Treasury of the United States an aggregate sum of $2,740,000. This reveals the somewhat startling fact that, despite the reported effects of the Government, crime, vice and illegal business have thrived.

The Attorney-General in submitting the report made a fervent appeal for increased appropriations, more drastic laws and increased authority in the administration of justice. Among the most important of the recommendations submitted in the report today is placing of Federal attorneys, assistant attorneys and other officers under the civil service rules. If Congress will authorize this Wickham said it will develop the highest efficiency in the ranks of the employees.

COFFEE TRUST SUIT SHOWS NEED FOR AMENDMENT.

The suit against the "Coffee Trust," or the Brazilian valorization scheme, the operations of which, the Attorney-General says, has resulted in more than doubling the retail price of coffee to the American consumer and thereby laying a heavy tax upon him, has developed what the Attorney-General regards as a defect in the anti-trust legislation of the Wilson tariff law dealing with combinations.
